

What a leader at Columbia Sportswear says about

THRIVE'S get ORGANIZED services

"After taking on a new role with Columbia Sportswear, which involved extensive international travel, I had very little time for day to day tasks. My living space became disorganized. I needed help. I found Thrive Lifestyle Solutions. Dana stepped in and got my living space back in order. I appreciated her ability to think for herself and creatively organize small spaces. She even separated charitable donation items which allowed me to get them to the right places. In the process she introduced me to Poshmark and taught me how to sell items through their site. The services provided by Thrive Lifestyle Solutions were well worth the investment. "
